|                  | TulaneShelby -> Emily          | Hi Emily! There are some restrictions on SOPA classes. Students can only take 3 total prior to graduation, and often students have to wait and register for these classes until Nov. 15th. This way, SOPA students get to register for those classes first. Oct-29 at 11:32:53 am                                                                                                                                |
| Oct 29, 11:35:16 | Rachel -> TulaneKyle           | Can you please tell me about the housing options for spring scholars? Also do parents stay for orientation? Oct-29 at 11:32:16 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                  | TulaneKyle -> Rachel           | Hi Rachel - spring scholar students will be assigned to all housing communities where space permits. We will house as many students as possible in predominantly freshman housing. Students will have the opportunity to preference a single, double, or triple room. Parents are welcome to stay for orientation. Oct-29 at 11:35:16 am                                                                         |
| Oct 29, 11:36:11 | Rosemary -> TulaneKyle         | It's my understanding freshman are assigned housing. Do they still have to apply for housing? Oct-29 at 11:33:28 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                  | TulaneKyle -> Rosemary         | Great question Rosemary! Yes, students still need to apply for housing and sign a Housing Agreement. The application will open on November 1st in the Housing Portal. We encourage Spring scholars to complete their applications by November 15th. Assignments will come out in mid December. Oct-29 at 11:36:10 am                                                                                             |
| Oct 29, 11:36:12 | Rachel -> TulaneJulie          | Any chance I could read all the questions and answers? Oct-29 at 11:35:12 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|                  | TulaneJulie -> Rachel          | Yes, if you're not able to read as the chat goes on, we will be emailing the transcript to every participant once it's ready (typically about a week or so). Oct-29 at 11:36:12 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Oct 29, 11:36:37 | TulaneRachelW19 -> Everyone    | Kyle is correct! Parents are welcome to attend Orientation and there will be a specific session for parents and families in the afternoon with our colleague from Parent Programs. | Oct 29, 11:36:38 | martha_sneider -> TulaneJuliaH | to whom do we submit sorority recommendations Oct-29 at 11:33:26 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|                  | TulaneJuliaH -> martha_sneider | Sorority recommendations should go directly to the sorority houses (addresses for each chapter can be found at greek.tulane.edu), if they are hard copy, or through the national organization's website, if that is preferred by that specific group. I do want to reiterate that recommendations are not required at Tulane, but if you do have them, they should be in before January 1. Oct-29 at 11:36:38 am |

|                  | TulaneKyle -> martha_sneider   | Hi Martha, Triples can be requested, and if available for Spring we will do our best to honor those requests. You can request roommates from other Spring Scholars or students currently residing on campus. We can't guarantee placement with these roommates as it will depend on availability, however, we will do our best to honor these requests. Oct-29 at 11:37:31 am                                    |

| Oct 29, 11:42:38 | Lsachs -> TulaneShelby       | If I am taking a foreign language here in Rome and I am receiving credit for the class, how does it work when I am signing up for classes. I used the avant test and placed into SPAN1120, here in Rome I am taking span101. Do I still have to take 3 foreign language credits at Tulane or does this one count? Thanks! |                  | TulaneShelby -> Lsachs       | Hi Lsachs. Your JCU class will count as SPAN 1010 (Spanish 1) at Tulane. This means you will only need to take 2 more semesters of Spanish at Tulane in order to complete the foreign language requirement. It is a fundamentals class which is a requirement for the major I would like to pursue. How do I go about asking for approval and am I at a disadvantage seeing that I am coming in during the spring? Oct-29 at 11:40:58 am                                                                                      |
|                  | TulaneShelby -> jualcantar | Hi jualcantar- for instructor approval, you will need to send an email to the professor. You can find their email on their department website. I do not believe that starting in the spring will put you at a disadvantage for this. |                  | TulaneShelby -> Rachel     | Hi Rachel- the only required course that all spring scholars must take in the spring is TIDES (freshman seminar course). If you haven't taken an English composition class, you will also be required to take ENGL 1010 in the spring. Otherwise, it will just depend on your major/interests. |                  | TulaneJuliaE -> Sophie     | Hi! My transition to Tulane in the Spring went very smoothly, but everyone's transition is different! One thing that really helped with my transition was early registration for classes. This allowed me to get into all of the classes I wanted to which was amazing. Everyone on Tulane's campus is really welcoming and friendly which also helped with the transition. Oct-29 at 11:45:39 am |

| Oct 29, 11:48:41 | Ruby_Levin -> TulaneShelby  | Hi, I'm studying in Rome for the semester and was wondering if we received a score of 2030 or higher on the language placement test, how many semesters of a language are we required to take if we are/and or not taking a language currently this semester? Oct-29 at 11:46:02 am                                                                       |
|                  | TulaneShelby -> Ruby_Levin  | Hi Ruby- if you receive a placement of 2030, you just need to take 1 semester of language at Tulane. If you place higher, you can try completing our in-person proficiency test. If you pass that test, you don't need to take any language at Tulane. Oct-29 at 11:48:41 am                                                                              |

| Oct 29, 11:51:50 | Kristen -> TulaneJordana    | Hi Tulane Jordana. How do classes at Tulane compare in workload and difficulty to what you experienced at JCU? Oct-29 at 11:49:20 am                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|                  | TulaneJordana -> Kristen    | It's pretty comparable between JCU and Tulane. It may get a little harder at Tulane because classes are geared more toward your major. However, I have so much more time to study at Tulane and more time to put toward my classes. Overall, it depends on which classes you took in Rome/which class you will be taking at Tulane. |                  | TulaneBeccaL19 -> feldben   | Hi! I utilized ratemyprofessor when I was choosing classes, however I would also recommend reaching out to students you know who may have taken the classes you are looking at. I know ratemyprofessor can have a bad reputation so I would ask students about their particular experiences in combination with using that website. Oct-29 at 11:53:57 am |

|                  | TulaneJordana -> Sophie  | The mini spring orientation for people going through recruitment was very helpful! It was a full day of orientation along with the other spring scholars going through recruitment that was basically just a sped-up version of regular orientation. It doesn't have any of the fun extra events, but it had enough info to get you ready to be mixed in with the Fall students throughout recruitment. Oct-29 at 11:58:39 am                          |

|                  | TulaneJuliaE -> Sophie   | It was a great experience to live with a random roommate. She was able to help me navigate Tulane because she had already been there for a semester so she knew a lot of the ins and outs of Tulane, like where classes were, etc. It was also a great way to meet new people because I was able to meet her friends! |                  | TulaneBeccaL19 -> Sophie | Hi! I wish I knew to take advantage of being able to pick classes first. It is super hard to get into some classes here because so many people want to take it, so it is super awesome to be able to pick classes first. I would talk to your academic advisor about which classes you should take and                                                                                                                                                 |

|                  | TulaneShelby -> Emily_m     | Hi Emily- a lot of people do, but not everyone. If calculus is a class you're worried about, some students prefer to take it over the summer (either at Tulane or back home) so they can focus on calc without other classes going on at the same time. This will depend on your major, so be sure to discuss timing with your academic advisor. |                  | TulaneShelby -> Ruby_Levin  | Hi Ruby- yes, transfer classes can serve as pre-requisites for Tulane classes. So in your case, you will be able to take higher level psychology classes in the spring if you want since you will already have credit for the intro class. |                  | TulaneJordana -> Rosemary   | I had talked to some upperclassmen before so I had a pretty good idea of what to bring! Less is more when it comes to packing. You'll want your room to not feel overcrowded so only pack stuff you need! Something smart to bring that many people don't talk about would be miscellaneous costumes because there are always festivals and events that you'll want some of those high school pep rally or Halloween costumes! |                  | TulaneKyle -> Toni2         | Hi Toni, Logistics will be similar with some key differences, so please make sure to check out the Spring Move-In guide when it is published in November. Items can be shipped in advanced, but will not be delivered directly to the rooms. They will be available for pick up and move in on move in day. We will have help on move in day in both the forms of dollies and carts as well as volunteers. Oct-29 at 12:21:57 pm                     |
